DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the “pull-apart magnet” must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either “Replacement Sheet” or “New Sheet” pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

Art Unit: 3651

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1-11 are replete with grammatical errors and instances of indefinite language to numerous to point out in their entirety. What follows are only some examples. The examiner suggests that all of the claims reviewed to correct for vague and indefinite language.

In claim 1, use of the phrase "...in the vicinity..." renders the claim indefinite. How close is considered in the vicinity?

Claim 1 recites "...and which terminates in a first longitudinal position moved toward the working site on the one hand in the vicinity of the first tendering position remote from the working site and on the one hand bridges over the second tendering position...". As written this is unclear due to lack of appropriate punctuation. The phrase is run-on and one of ordinary skill in the art is unable to determine that which is or is not readable thereon.

Claim 1 recites "...the two tendering positions, which is able...". It appears that perhaps this should read - - which are able - - , since "tendering positions" are plural. As written the claim is unclear.

Claim 3 recites "a second longitudinal position". Is this the same "second longitudinal position recited in claim 1, or an additional second longitudinal position? Perhaps claim 3 should read, "the second longitudinal position" or perhaps there is a third longitudinal position.

Claim 4 recites the limitation "the defective sheet". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

In claim 5, the phrase "...and more especially at least...", renders the claim unclear. A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. See MPEP § 2173.05(c). Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). In the present instance, claim 5 recites the broad recitation pull-apart means, and the claim also recites pull-apart magnet which is the narrower statement of the range/limitation.

Claim 11 is unclear in that it is narrative in form not clearly positively reciting the method steps. The examiner suggest that the claim be written in accordance with 37 CFR 1.75(i) so as to make clear what the method steps are. As written the claim is unclear.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 3651

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-11 as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Schmitt USP 5096179. Schmitt discloses a similar device comprising a(n):

1. Two tendering positions (6, 7)
2. Said two tendering positions being provided with a lifting means (9, 10; C1/L23-26)
3. Longitudinal conveying means (12) arranged between the two tendering positions
4. Conveyor belt (12)
5. Sensor (C3/L66)

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
